

The Dream Chasers present “Everything You Ever Needed To Know About Women: For Dummies”

A comedic journey through gender education and general misinformation.

Written and Performed by: Dwayne Morgan, Leviathan Grant and Tomy "BAM BAM" Bewick...

The Dream Chasers first full length show "I HATE POETRY" opened in Toronto's Trane Studio in 2009 and went on to receive multiple glowing reviews, critic's picks and fan favourites awards at the Hamilton Fringe Festival. The Dream Chasers Fringe debut was described as an “ever changing, high energy, thought-provoking evening.” Where the cast “push around some sensitive issues and some silly ones, and keep us on our toes.”

After 10 shows in 10 days, the DC's took a break before reuniting to write their next script: "Everything You Ever Needed To Know About Women: For Dummies". Guaranteed to be packed with humour, insight and taboo subject matter; the Dream Chasers are bringing their unique brand of spoken word to Toronto's ROYAL ST. GEORGE located at 120 Howland (North of Bloor). They are determined to push the envelope, their luck and your buttons as they tackle the myths and realities of what men think, and actually know about women (which may or may not amount to a whole lot).

The new show starts Thursday July 1st at 10:30 PM with a Saturday showing at 11:30 PM. Good for a late night laugh with a friend or a fun-filled date; the Dream Chasers won't sleep until they can tell you "Everything You Ever Needed To Know About Women: For Dummies".
